This AI agent replaces your $240K prospect research team

What Fortune 500s pay 6 analysts to research over 3 weeks...

Now takes 47 seconds.

I cracked their exact methodology and automated it.

Here's what I discovered:

Elite sales orgs don't wing it. They have dedicated intelligence teams analyzing each major prospect:

- Financial health & spending triggers
- Technology gaps & integration challenges
- Decision maker psychology & purchase history
- Competitive landscape & vendor relationships

Cost per prospect: $3,400-$8,200

Meanwhile everyone else is cold calling with LinkedIn profiles.

So I built their entire intelligence operation as an AI agent:

47-second analysis delivering what Fortune 500s pay teams to research:

- Company financials & growth trajectory
- Technology stack & integration points
- Decision maker mapping with psychological profiles
- Competitor vulnerability assessment
- Optimal approach strategy with confidence scoring

The result?

Sales conversations that sound like you've been consulting their business for months.

This AI-bot writes better LinkedIn posts than your $4,500 ghostwriter

And it's already generated me multiple 6-figures from LinkedIn.

Comment "BOT" and i'll send it to you

Most creators just dump random prompts into ChatGPT...

Then wonder why their posts get 2 likes and 0 leads.

This bot changes that for you...

It's honestly, wild.

→ It autowrites posts in the right tone

→ Suggests stronger hooks (so people actually click "see more")

→ Explains why each post works

→ Diagnoses why a post flopped — and how to fix it

→ Rewrites old content into fresh, lead-pulling posts

And the wild part?

It doesn't even feel like AI

Want access?

Comment "BOT" + send me a connection request.

I'll send it straight to you.

 Bonus: Repost this and I'll send you a personalised tutorial.

PS - This post was written by the same bot ;)

I just finished an analysis of 5,422 companies who went through

Y Combinator

Analyzed and filtered for what was really a SaaS (using the same process I use for

saasyDB

) and was left with 3,277 companies

This company list was enriched by

Adyntel

with what ad platforms each SaaS uses (special thanks to

Emils Veveris

and

Andrei Baloleanu

🔥 Enriched with which ad platforms they actually use — Google Ads, Meta, LinkedIn... plus Email Service Provider data from

EmailGuard

so you know if they're using Google or Outlook etc (thanks

Cody Smith

), great for cold email

This means you can now see:

- ➡ Which verticals lean Meta vs LinkedIn
- ➡ Who's spending on paid growth vs purely PLG
- ➡ What stage of the YC pipeline tends to start buying traffic
- ➡ Who has money to spend on ads, and potentially your services
- ➡ Which companies to pitch to if you can help them with anything related

Want the list of companies and all the data points we have on them? Comment "YC" below and I'll DM you the Sheet link (request me first if we're not connected yet)

I shouldn't be doing this... But after crossing 50,000,000+ views on LinkedIn, we've decided to give away our private content system for free.

For the last year, we've been using an internal AI system built specifically for LinkedIn.

The same one that helped us and our clients hit millions of views, 1000s of leads, and full pipelines without writing a single word manually.

Until now, it's been invite-only.

Today, it's public.

Phantomwriter replaces your entire LinkedIn content workflow:

- AI Idea Generator – instantly turns your niche into viral post ideas
- AI Ghostwriter – writes high-quality, undetectably human LinkedIn posts

- AI Designer - creates images & media to accompany your posts
- Content Calendar – organise and manage your posting schedule
- Lead Magnet Builder – creates posts that drive real inbound leads
- Unlimited Regeneration – rewrite any post until it's perfect

Our users replaced:

- ✔ $3,000/month ghostwriters
- ✔ Hours wasted prompting ChatGPT
- ✔ Inconsistent posting schedules

And resulted in...

- AI undetectable writing style
- Viral content for any niche
- 10x faster workflow

We've opened free access for a limited number of founders/creators.

Want in?

Comment "SYSTEM" below and I'll DM you the invite link personally to get free credits.

The best early-stage founders will push their teams to launch when everyone feels uncomfortable to launch.

I have been in that exact situation as a founder and CEO of an early-stage startup.

- The code was messy and needed cleaning.

- The design was missing and the icons were not in the perfect resolution.
- Some of the language wasn't clear, and needed iteration.

Everyone wanted more time.

But my response was "we don't need time, we need progress".

What is the reason most early-stage teams don't launch quickly? they want things to be perfect as if there is some kind of expectation from you to deliver an app like a mature company would.

In reality, at the very early stages, nobody knows you exist, nobody cares about you or your product - there are no expectations.

The sole goal of the founders is to learn, and build again and again and again.

The only way to do it is to launch, when others wait.

After generating over 40 million impressions for clients,

I mapped out the first 36 posts I'd do to:

Build a library of greatest hits ASAP

In 90 days, this allows you to:

- Balance a mix of your content pillars
- Test multiple proven formats to go viral
- Funnel the audience from TOFU to BOFU

It includes specific post examples by top creators:

Anthony Pierri

Pierre Herubel

Nick Broekema

Dan Rosenthal

Fivos Aresti

Matt Lakajev

Lara Acosta

Charlie Hills

Of course, you still need personal touches.

To base them on your lived experiences.

And have your personality show.

But this, more often than not, guarantees some viral hits.

From there, you can double down on them.

You can be known for:

- A visual format you post every week
- A resource type you give for free
- Your unique POV & expertise

But start now because it takes at least:

3 months to understand what works for you

6 months to be known for your style of content

12 months to get 5+ figures in relevant following

But the opportunities, inbound interest, & conversions will be worth it.

Use this editable template as a roadmap for your content journey.

Just comment 90 DAYS and it's yours.

We analysed 318,842 LinkedIn posts in 3 months.

Reach has dropped off a cliff for most...

The LinkedIn algorithm has changed again.

Here's everything you need to know:

LinkedIn has historically lagged behind other social media platforms.

But in 2025, the changes have been faster than I've ever seen.

It's becoming harder to keep up, and 99% of creators I know agree.

That's why

Will McTighe

and I created this report.

We used Saywhat's data on over 300K posts...

And this is what you need to know to keep growing your account:

(Come back to this when you make any future content)

1. Content Formats

✗ "Carousels should only be educational"

✓ Storytelling carousels that teach lessons are in

2. Tracking Metrics

✗ "Likes and comments are the only metrics that matter"

✓ Saves and shares are the NEW important metric

3. Top-Of-Funnel Content

✗ "Billboards and quotes perform the best"

✓ Quotes on brand-aligned backgrounds are performing better

4. Style Of Hooks

✗ "Just use a contrarian, two-line hook"

✓ Personal story hooks are the best performing format

5. Posting Videos

✗ "Post videos to go viral"

✅ Post videos that build trust and offer value

6. Commenting Strategy

❌ "Comment on as many posts as possible"

✅ Top 5% creators leave pictures or personal story comments

7. Links In Posts

❌ "Avoid links in posts at all costs"

✅ Posts with 3+ links get 236% BETTER reach.

Of course, adaptability is key on a platform like LinkedIn.

You need to be testing your content, and doubling down on what works.

There will be a lot of "LinkedIn experts" giving advice,

And telling you it's impossible to grow.

That's why we're backing up these insights with real data.

So you can be aware of the changes, and still real results.

Of course, this post is just a snapshot.

Will and I are giving away the full State of the Algorithm Report for Q3 2025.

2. Share with your network

3. Join the Saywhat & Creator Accelerator Webinar (October 15th):

Looking forward to seeing you there !

You don't get an A+ to post daily on LinkedIn.

If that were true, I'd get a big fat F!

In fact, here's 4 outdated lessons I wish I could erase from the 2025 LinkedIn curriculum:

1. Post daily? No. It's not a must. I've never posted daily in all my years on LinkedIn. Not once.
2. Some posting days are better than others? No. Create your own structure. Something that YOU can manage. Then, move on with your life. I only post Mon-Thu.

(Then I take 3-day weekends)

3. Schedule just in case? Never. Stick to your structure. If I travel on my posting days, I'll simply skip a day.

(No penalty for skipping days)

4. Best posting time is 12pm? Hilarious. It's always noon somewhere in the world. Pick a time that:

- you can stick to long-term
- when your "active audience" is there

Bonus: Posting at a specific time every time does help. You can count on consistent engagement this way.

Aaand... Monday Masterclass, over!

Tell me which one you agree / disagree with? 😊

We just forged an alliance of 15 AI agents that sing & dance with your entire software stack – and invented a whole new protocol 🤖

Most teams are drowning in a sea of disconnected tools, dreading the day they'll actually have to do something about it.

Slack here, HubSpot there, Notion somewhere else... more time switching and searching between apps than actually getting things done.

Suppose you could tap into that infinite void of software – with nothing more than a natural prompt?

Picture the surgical precision of an API call, amplified by the broad-spectrum power of an MCP (minus the hallucinations).

The result → something faster, more accurate, and infinitely easier to use than either could ever be alone.

15 specialist AI agents that can navigate, control, and orchestrate any application like they were born inside your tech stack.

This is just the first cohort.

And of course we had to give it a name...

- --

Model Relevance Protocol (MRP) 🤖

While everyone else is playing with toy blocks (MCP 🧸) we built a nuclear reactor.

Here's what just happened at

Relevance AI

HQ:

I typed in ONE prompt to "research company, update our CRM, create a pitch deck, prep a Notion page, track all changes in a spreadsheet, and email the team."

That agent delegated to a workforce of 6 specialist MRP agents:

- 🔍 Research Specialist (Google Search + Web Extraction for deep company intel)
- 🏢 HubSpot Master (CRM updates + data enrichment + stakeholder mapping)
- 🎨 Brandfetch Wizard (logos, colors, assets + complete brand identity)
- 👤 Apollo Hunter (stakeholder intelligence + decision-maker profiles)
- 📊 Gamma Architect (14-slide presentation + visual storytelling)
- 📧 Gmail Commander (team communication + briefing distribution)

The result? A complete business intelligence operation that would normally take a human 1-2 days... finished in 22 minutes.

I didn't need to configure any custom API calls. No coding. Just plain English instructions.

- --

This is so powerful I would encourage you to ask yourself: "what shouldn't these agents do?".

Because your company's entire software stack is now your oyster 🍽️

Want access to the complete 15 AI Agent MRP Workforce we created?

💬 Like + comment "PROTOCOL" and I'll send it through to you → just make sure we're connected!

Tonight at 8 PM EST, I'm revealing the complete blueprint that took me from $200 chatbots to $132K deals.

For free.

By the end of this live training, you'll have the exact roadmap to:

- Position yourself as a vertical AI specialist (not another generic "AI guy")
- Land high-value clients without paid ads
- Scale to $10K/month recurring revenue

What I'm sharing tonight:

- The complete $132K CRM system that beat an $8M Salesforce setup
- My proven client acquisition method (zero marketing budget required)
- The vertical specialization framework that eliminates price competition
- Step-by-step scaling blueprint from first client to consistent revenue

I'm not promising overnight success, but I guarantee this: you'll stop competing on price and start commanding premium rates as the specialist clients seek out.

The reality check:

If you want to build a real AI agency, you need to show up tonight.

Don't be the person who says they want to change their situation but won't show up when the opportunity is right in front of them.

The live webinar has already wrapped up.
